The Bell's and Allied Families

Compiled by Maria Locke Bell - 1953
1814 Gervais Street
Columbia, S. C.

I do not pretend to be a genealogist and I know this effort is imperfect in many ways. However, I have attempted to give something of the background of these ancestors of yours, hoping that it may inspire some of you, the younger generation, to do further research and find all the "missing links." In the main, I have confined myself to facts acquired through the interested cooperation of various members of the family and many published records.

There are one or two traditions in the family - I have not included them, but, as a challenge to further research, I herewith quote them to you, as follows:

"There is a tradition in the Bell family that the name was originally "Campbell," and that the ancestor from whom they are descended came over from Scotland early in 1600. He was the son of the Duke of Argyle, and on the ship coming to America he destroyed all of his papers, etc., and declared that his future sons would have to make names for themselves in the new country."

"There is also another tradition in the family that the Adams descend from Henry Adams of Braintree, Mass., the ancestor of Pres. John Adams." As Henry had seven sons, this is very probably more than a tradition. It, very likely, could be proven a fact, but an experienced genealogist would have to do that.

There is, in the family, however, a record of the Adams family dating back to Pepin, born 600 A. D. Another challenge to a younger generation!

THE BELLS AND ALLIED FAMILIES

According to several writers and compilers of the history of the Low Country, the Bells were among the early settlers in the Province of South Carolina, coming mostly from Scotland. However, there were many who came from the north of Ireland and settled in Pennsylvania, and from there came on to Virginia and South Carolina.

All of them were probably seeking freedom in the new country - the same "four freedoms" we are now advocating after these many years. Certainly they desired freedom of speech and freedom of religion.

There was one Bell, however, who must have come over in answer to a call from his church - a call to come to the new country and help carry on his form of religion. This Rev. Thomas Bell was from Cambuslang, Lanark County, Scotland. According to "Family Connections" by Charles E. Bell (a great grandson of Rev. Thomas Bell) "Rev. Thomas Bell, the first of the family in this State (S. C.), was a Scotch Presbyterian Minister on James Island, where he died in October 1756 (see family Bible) in the ninth year of his ministry, which would make his advent to James Island the year 1747. There is no mention made of when he came to this country. He died at the age of forty-two. He had a son Thomas born in 1753 and a daughter Elizabeth born in 1755.

The family Bible, above mentioned, has long since been lost or destroyed. In Howe's "History of the Presbyterian Church in South Carolina" published by Duffie and Chapman 1870, Columbia, S. C., we take the following excerpts -

Page 272 - "The Presbyterian Church of Wilton (Wiltown) in the early part of this period, about 1750, was destitute of a pastor. There is in existence among the papers of this church, an obligation attached to a blank call to be forwarded to the Presbytery of Edinburgh, through Rev. Thomas Bell, Moderator of the Presbytery of South Carolina. On the 2nd day of June 1752, there was a meeting of a committee of this Presbytery appointed to settle some difficulty which had occurred in the congregation. From the record containing a notice of this meeting, it appears that at that time there was no pastor in connection with the church. The document commences, "The committee appointed by the last Presbytery at Charles-Town met and Post Preces sederunt, The Reverend the Moderator Mr. Thomas Murray, Messrs. John McLeod, Thomas Bell, Charles Lorimer, Ministers, and Samuel Davidson, Ruling Elder. It is signed "Thomas Bell, C l. p. t."

Page 273 - "Mr. Archibald Simpson born in Glasgow March 1st 1734 or '35 labored for many years in the country between Charleston and Savannah - first for a brief period in connection with the Wilton Church. "He heard with interest at this time (about 1744) Mr. Fisher and Mr. Bell of Cambuslang and partook of the Sacrement first under the ministry of Mr. Stirling of the Utter (Outer) High Church of Glasgow. He sailed for S. C. on the 6th of March 1753. His journal in Carolina commences in May 1754 when he was residing within the limits of the Pon Pon congregation."

Page 275 - "We are immediately introduced to the presbytery then in existence, of whose proceedings we know so little." "Monday, May 13th went to Charlestown to attend Presbytery." Among the ministers present "Rev. Thomas Bell of James Island."

Page 278 - During this period of time, Mr. Thomas Bell was pastor of the Presbyterian Church of James Island. In his diary Mr. Simpson says: "Saturday, Aug. 23, 1755, to James Island. Kindly received by Mr. Bell. Lord's Day 24th preached and baptized Mr. Bell's child. Lord's Day November 9th Mr. Bell preached his action sermon from John V. 14."

"Mr. Bell was Moderator of the Presbytery in 1750."

On Saturday 10th of Feb. we find the following entry in Mr. Simpson's diary. "Rode to James Island to visit and preach for the minister there who is very much advanced in years and greatly afflicted with sickness in his person and family."

Page 280 - On the 5th Feb. 1756 the following record appears transcribed in the session book of the Church: "We the members of the Presbytery now met at Charles Town do declare our satisfaction with the within report, and hereby give and grant as far as in us lies unto the Trustees for the church and congregation of Bethel, Pon Pon a full quietus. This done and certified in open Presbytery this 5th day of Feb. 1756. Signed Archibald Simpson, Moderator, Thomas Bell, Minister."

Page 186 - "In St. Paul's Parish Colleton District on the east bank of the Edisto River on the site formerly occupied by the church now stands an Episcopal Church built among the graves in which sleep the ashes of those who died in the Presbyterian faith."

In compiling this family history, I have brought each line down to John Bell (1844 - 1888), giving his relationship to the first ancestor and tracing from then on. There is some repetition but that, I hope, will make it clearer.

Rev. Thomas Bell (1714 - 1756)

Rev. Thomas Bell (great-great grandfather of John Bell) born 1714, died 1756. Issue:

1. Thomas Bell born 1753 married either Mary McKee born 1756 or Sarah McKee, born 1758.
2. Elizabeth Bell born 1755.

1. Thomas Bell (1753 -)

In the record of St. Helena's Parish, Beaufort, S. C., we find a Thomas Bell mentioned several times.

There was a "Thomas Bell in the Revolution, 1775" - Vol. 3 and 4, Page 124, S. C. Historical and Genealogical Magazine.

Thomas Bell (great grandfather of John Bell) born 1753 and wife, presumably Mary or Sarah McKee. (See McKee line for explanation.)

Issue:

1. John Bell born 1792, died in Greenville, S. C. in 1864.
2. Paulus Q. Bell died unmarried.
3. Thomas Bell born circa 1796.
4. Elizabeth "Betsey" Bell born circa 1798, married Capt. John Talbird of Beaufort. He is buried at Whale Branch Plantation, Beaufort County.
5. Mary "Molsey" Bell married first Mr. Palmer. Married second Capt. John Talbird. No issue.

1. John Bell (1792 - 1864)

John Bell (grandfather of John Bell) born 1792, married first May 8, 1818 Henrietta McKee born Feb. 9, 1796, daughter of John McKee and Margaret Johnson. Married second 1829, Margaret Hinkston Bythewood.

John Bell died in 1864 in Greenville, S. C., where he refugeed during the Civil War.

In a little borchure entitled "History of St. Helena's Episcopal Church," we have a graphic picture of the suffering and confusion of residents of Beaufort at the beginning of the Civil War, for it says, "On the 7th of Nov. 1861, the Federal fleet passed the forts at the entrance of Port Royal Harbor and within a few hours the entire white population had deserted Beaufort. A dread of being cut off from their fathers, brothers, husbands and sons was what inspired the people. The movement was so rapid and complete that a young Confederate officer who escaped from one of the lower batteries reported that passing through some of the most frequented streets of Beaufort he saw but one white man, a foreign merchant." No wonder Bible records and papers were lost and destroyed.

John Bell and his first wife Henrietta McKee.

Issue:

1. John McKee Bell born 20 April 1819. Baptized 8 August 1819 by Campbell. Parents sureties.
2. Theodore Augustus Bell born 13 June 1822. Baptized 9 November 1822 by Hanckel. Parents and John Verdier sureties.

John Bell and his second wife Margaret Hinkston Bythewood.

Issue:

3. Charles E. Bell born Nov. 3, 1829.
4. Ann Dupont Bell died unmarried Dec. 24, 1876.
5. Julius Bythewood Bell born Nov. 19, 1834.

As will be seen later on in the McKee records, Henrietta McKee Bell died Aug. 14, 1825 when her two little boys, John McKee Bell and Theodore Augustus Bell, were aged six and three respectively. John Bell and Henrietta McKee were evidently members of the Episcopal Church, for the above mentioned little boys were, as shown by the records of St. Helena's Church, Beaufort, baptized by Episcopal ministers Rev. Campbell and Rev. Hanckel. (Dalcho, in his "History of the Episcopal Church" lists them as follows: Christian Hanckel ordained in 1812 by the Right Rev. Bishop Dehon and John Barnwell Campbell as ordained in 1808.)

2. Theodore Augustus Bell (1822 - 1882)

The few letters in existence from Theodore Augustus Bell and his wife Mary Chaplin Adams show their keen interest in the education of their children, and give us a glimpse of their happy home life in Beaufort. The letters written in 1856 and 1859 were to Mr. A. B. Wardlaw, a former teacher in Beaufort, S. C., father of the late beloved Prof. Patterson Wardlaw of the University of South Carolina. (See page 14 for letters.)

Theodore Augustus Bell (father of John Bell) born June 13, 1822, died June 13, 1882. Married Feb. 10, 1842 Mary Chaplin Adams, born Jan. 20, 1825, died 1890, daughter of Benjamin Adams and Mary Rebecca Chaplin. Theodore Augustus Bell and wife are buried in Elmwood Cemetery, Columbia, S. C.

2. John Bell (1844 - 1888)

In the Muster Roll of the Beaufort Volunteer Artillery at the surrender of the Battery under Lieutenant General Joseph C. Johnston, at Greensboro, N. C., in April 1865, we find the names of E. A. Bell and John Bell. There were many other members of the family in the Beaufort Volunteer Artillery. There were eight sons of John Chaplin besides Fripps, Barnwells, Adams and others who served in the Confederate War.

“The Beaufort Arsenal, corner of Craven and Scott Streets, Beaufort, S. C., is a picturesque old building of Spanish architecture with Gothic windows built in 1795 and rebuilt in 1852. This was the site of Beaufort's first court house. It was headquarters of the old Beaufort Volunteer Artillery organized in 1776 and now (1938) the 263rd Coast Artillery the fifth Military Company re-organized in the United States and one which has seen duty in every war of the nation.”

The above record shows that John Bell was not quite 21 years of age when he was mustered out of service. He came to Columbia where his family was living at that time. He died in 1888 and the Columbia Register in announcing his death said: "It will be difficult for those among whom for years he has lived his upright life to realize that Mr. John Bell, the well known teller of the Carolina National Bank is no more. A man of modest mien, eminently of domestic inclinations, he never sought extensive acquaintance beyond his business associates, but was universally respected and possessed the confidence of the community as a man of the highest integrity. In all the relations of life his record was without flaw." He was buried from Trinity Church, Columbia, S. C., of which he was a faithful and devoted member.

John Bell born Nov. 20, 1844, died Dec. 1, 1888. Married Oct. 12, 1875 in Augusta, Georgia, Emily Margaret Milligan, born June 6, 1850, died Sept. 6, 1922, daughter of Dr. Joseph Milligan and Elizabeth Jones Camfield. 1. The purpose of this study is to determine the effect of the proposed changes on the economy.

2. Methodology

The study was conducted using a combination of primary and secondary data. Primary data was collected through interviews with key personnel in the industry, while secondary data was obtained from government reports and academic journals.

3. Results

4. Discussion

The results of the study indicate that the proposed changes will have a significant impact on the economy. The data shows a clear trend of increasing productivity and efficiency, which is consistent with the findings of previous studies in this area.

Efficiency	1.5
Cost Reduction	0.8
Revenue Increase	1.1
Profitability	1.3

These findings suggest that the proposed changes are likely to be successful in achieving the desired economic outcomes. However, further research is needed to fully understand the long-term implications of these changes.

5. Conclusion

The study concludes that the proposed changes will have a positive impact on the economy, leading to increased productivity and efficiency.

It is recommended that the government continue to monitor the implementation of these changes and provide support where necessary to ensure a smooth transition.

5. Theodore Percy Bell (1852 - 1916)

Theodore Percy Bell was a Baptist Minister of note, both in his own state (South Carolina) and in other parts of the country. "The Christian Index" speaks of him as "one of the best known and most highly esteemed and generally beloved men in the South."

As a young man he was minister of the Church in Anderson, S. C., and from there was called to Richmond, Virginia, as Assistant Secretary of the Foreign Mission Board. From there he went to Nashville, Tennessee to become the Secretary of the S. S. Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

A man of great personal charm and deep spirituality, his influence for good was felt in every locality to which he was called. He was for many years editor of the Christian Index where he made a notable record. A worthwhile tribute paid to him by one of the editors of the "Index," who had worked with him for 16 years, says in part, "Dr. Bell was first of all a gentleman in the highest sense of that word. He was a gentleman among other gentlemen and he was a gentleman in business. His respect for the truth was inspiring, and in honesty he was perfection."

He was too young to serve as a soldier in the Confederate War, but he was not too young to remember, and one of his finest articles published in the "Index" was entitled "A Boy's Recollections of the Confederate War."

His life was a busy, worthwhile and useful one. He died at the age of 64.

Theodore Percy Bell born Feb. 25, 1852, died Oct. 2, 1916. Married Dec. 8, 1880, Ada Carroll Clabaugh, born in Shelby County, Ala., Sept. 25, 1855, died Richmond, Va., Feb. 13, 1893.

Letters from Theodore Augustus Bell & wife Mary Chaplin Adams

The following letters are from T. A. Bell (Theodore Augustus) and his wife M. C. Bell (Mary Chaplin Adams), and their daughter Etta (Henrietta McKee Bell Williams) and one from his brother Charles E. Bell. They are written to "A. B. Wardlaw, Esq., Liberty Hill, Kershaw District, South Carolina." (He was the father of the late Prof. Patterson Wardlaw, of the University of South Carolina.)

Beaufort, S. C.
February 14, 1856

Your letter my dear young Friend has made us all feel very sad. We had heard that you were suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism, but you were convalescent and would very soon return, so that we were looking for you by every arrival of the Boat. We have missed you very much both in Our Family Circle, and School, Parents as well as the Boys are extremely anxious for your return, for Her is not more popular than usual, things However are being conducted a little better than usual, since your Friend James Stuart has taken your place, He fills it until you are well enough to resume it again, which I sincerely hope will be soon.

I think a change to the salt air will benefit you, as soon as you can travel. Our climate must be milder than it is up there. We have had no snow though a very severe winter, but as nature is beginning to show signs of life I hope the winter is over, or at least the most unpleasant part of it.

I attended yesterday the Funeral of Miss Wilcox she was sick but a few weeks, from a severe cold, which brought on hemorrhage of the lungs, she was young to die, though to Her Death had no sting. She was perfectly herself, said she felt her strength fast giving away, but Jesus was near her Soul and would not forsake her in that dark hour. Oh! it is then, the Soul can fully appreciate the love of Christ, the Glory of the Cross, let us, my Dear Friend, take Christ as our all, nothing less than His Blood can cleanse our sin stained Souls. We have often conversed on this subject and you don't know how deeply interested I have felt for your salvation, and now a Father's loving hand has in His Infinite Wisdom seen best to lay the rod so heavily upon you. It is, I feel assured for your Soul's comfort, to draw you to Him, and surely He is worthy of your hearts best affections.

Excuse me if I have said too much to you on this subject, but feelings of friendship prompt me, and I know you will, as you have always done, receive it kindly.

Have you heard from James Stuart. He sent me word he was about writing to you last week. Charles Bell desires his Best respects, he will write very soon. Theodore also. John says he wishes very much you were here, that not even the arrival of Mr. Fielding's Daughter has kept him from straping the Boys, of which he has had his due portion, there was something said about giving you one of the Latin Classes, and they are looking forward with a great deal of anxiety for your return, each hoping to be one of your scholars. I must close, hoping this will find you very much better. Write again soon, we shall be anxious to hear from you. The family all desire their best respects, believe me your sincere friend.

M. C. Bell

Beaufort, March 10th 1856

Dear Wardlaw,

I have started to write you several times but have been so much occupied that had to put off as all of our clerks have been away and sick, which you know would keep me pretty well employed. I was really glad to hear through Dehon Dupont on his way from Columbia that you were on the mend, and from your letter to Mrs. Bell received last night that you still continue to do so, and hope by the (break here) you that you will be a great deal better.

I think you had better take a run down to our town as soon as you can travel, even if it is in April. Mrs. Bell will take good care of you. The Girls are all very anxious to know when Mr. Wardlaw will be able to return as they miss him so much. Some of the Old Ladies are also making constant enquiries after you.

Mr. Givens family send very frequently to hear of you and express the warmest interest in your welfare. I think it would bring you up considerably to hear with how warm an interest your Boys enquire after your health, wishing Mr. Wardlaw would make haste to get well and come back as you did not worry them as the other teacher does, altho you did give them a hiding now and then it was deserved.

Mr. Fielding says he cannot get any thing in order for want of Friend Wardlaw, that he has no one to consult with that can give him an idea.

Mary says you must come as soon as you can risk the cars, that she will give you some oysters, drum fish, roe, etc., which is sure to have a good effect as you know the two things for (break here) know is proverbial.

John says must tell you that he has commenced the study of Latin, only because he would have to go to Mr. Sams, if he continued in English, says he gets along pretty well, but would be very glad if you would come as Horace does not know how to measure lessons and gives such as he could not recite himself.

I have a house full, Mr. Duponts boys are with me, also two nephews of Capt. D. Jenkins. Philip Webb is still with us. Edmond, I have shipped, as I did not care to keep him with my boys he being as I have been informed, one who ought not to be where boys are who expect to take any stand in decent society.

The only news about now is that Emma Rhodes is engaged to Mr. Toomer. It has put the whole family out as they have no opinion of the man.

Mary says she will write you soon and that she hopes to see you shortly.

All friends join in best respects to you and Charley says he will write you shortly again.

Before I conclude I will give you a receipt which will afford you great relief if from your confinement in bed the skin is tender or much inflamed - Take alum and pulverize it, then dissolve in Brandy and bathe the parts, rubbed two or three times a day, it will (break here) however very much. Hoping to hear from you soon that are a great deal better and will come down remain

Your Sincere friend
T. A. Bell

Beaufort - July 30th 1856

My dear Friend:

Since John Elliott has been away we but very seldom hear from you, so I have concluded to write to you myself hoping it may bring some intelligence directly from you, perhaps you have thought some indifference has been manifested by not writing sooner, but I assure you it has not been felt by any of us. We have passed through some heartfelt bitter trials this summer, that really I have felt that I could not bring myself to write to any one and Theodore, though speaking frequently of writing, is so fatigued when he gets home that he thinks more of rest than any thing else.

In the winter both hoopingcough and measles was brought into the yard and before we were hardly aware of it, the children took it, some of them though very sick have almost entirely recovered. My little Charlie had both of the diseases it was too much for his constitution. He died of congestion of the lungs about six weeks ago. He had grown very much like Percy in looks and disposition, and completely entwined himself around our hearts, but I would not have it otherwise, dear as he was to me, for I believe God has peculiar love for those little ones. He takes to himself ere they have learned to sin, and I know, though it seems hard for human nature to realize that what He wills is best, but I must stop writing about my troubles, and make some enquiry about yours, for truly yours has been a bitter cup, how is it with you now? Better I hope as I have heard you had concluded to travel the remainder of the summer. We have been hoping you would bend your steps this way, and try what the salt air will do for you. I think if you were to spend a month or two on Bay Point you would feel like yourself again, there are now a great many on the Point, and you would no doubt spend your time pleasantly, you know I always told you, you were a little conceited, but if you could hear the many anxious inquiries that are made about you, I am afraid you would in reality be a little so. I suppose you will tell me, it is not conceit, only a just appreciation of your intrinsic worth, but seriously you are very much wanted here, one of the Trustees said yesterday he really wished you could come on and put things to rights for the School is very much out of order, they seem willing to tolerate it now, if by waiting, they can get you another year.

I put John in Latin to avoid H. Sams, but he seems to have so great a distaste for it, that I am afraid I shall have to take him out. Charles Bell thinks I had better let him study English. I have no trouble with his English lessons whatever. I think I shall put him to the English until you come and then we will consult about him.

William Traville has a very good School, I think twenty-two scholars and the promise of more the next quarter. Report says Mr. Fielding is about purchasing Cain Island and all of the negroes. He has been down to look at the place and I think there is some truth in the report, if so, I think you will if you wish it get his situation next year.

I must now close as I can't write with lines, and I think my writing will try your patience, at best, you know what Theodore says about it.

All friends desire to be remembered to you. Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Bell, both requested me to say they hope to see you back very soon, for they miss you very much whenever they come here, and now let me hope you will write very soon.

Your Sincere Friend,
M. C. Bell

Beaufort, January 9, 1859

My Dear Friend:

I am one of the last perhaps to express my congratulations and good wishes for your future happiness on this most important and happy event of your life, not that you have not been thought of or that less earnestly have I wished that the same Providence who guided your footsteps here and made you and inmate of our Home until we learned to look upon you as one of our family and to feel a heartfelt interest in your future happiness; may ever bless you both with rich blessings and having united your hearts in Christian sympathy you may be what God intended Man and Wife to be helps to each other in their Christian course, as well as in all the vicissitudes of this changing world. I suppose you begin to feel quite like a married man, I would like very much to see how you wear your "new honors," with becoming grace and dignity, no doubt you will say, perhaps so, but I would prefer judging of that myself and you know you promised we should have that opportunity by bringing Mrs. Wardlaw to see us, a promise not forgotten I hope, it seems so natural to look for you on the first of January, that we miss you as much now as when you first went away. It would give me much pleasure could I have a good old time confab with you, your better half I feel inclined to think very highly of, for displaying such good taste in her selection of a Lord, though I don't know but what he might be spoiled if not rightly managed.

Have you no idea of taking the Principal's place in May? The Trustees and Parents are very much in hopes of your doing so. Libby Fuller told me a few days ago that her uncle R. Barnwell was anxious if you could not teach the Languages (on account of your eyes) you would teach English, and let your assistant teach the Languages, you would be entitled to the Principal's salary and privileges, indeed have the superintendence of every thing. They have now a Frenchman to teach English, a Mr. Quitin, speaks so imperfectly, that the boys do not (or they say) they cannot understand him, they are not very much pleased. John goes to W. Traville. I suppose you saw that Ernest was appointed to the Arsenal, he started went as far as Charleston, was taken with fever and returned on Friday with a hot fever on him. I feel quite discouraged about his going for the slightest cold gives him fever. He will go again on Monday, with the hope that the change will prevent his having a return of it, and restore his health again. Will you do me the favor to see him sometimes when passing through Columbia. He will be very much pleased to see you.

Tell your brother Will I received his letter and will be very much pleased to get just such another, and if he thinks it is such a waste of his pretty pink paper, to write to an Old Married Lady, he can use fool's cap, the next time, on condition that he writes as many pages. I will write to him soon, tell him I believe Miss Hetty is going to be married.

I received the box of cake with the double portion for myself and distributed the rest as you directed. All of your friends send their best respects with the hope that they will yet have you domiciled among them and that at no distant period. My best respects to Mrs. Wardlaw, your Mother also, write soon and say what answer I shall give to the oft repeated inquiry When is Mr. Wardlaw coming?

Yours truly,
M. C. Bell

Beaufort, April 30, 1859

Dear Wardlaw:

I have long been wanting to write you, but have had so many things to stop me, that you must excuse my delay. In the 1st place my eyes were so painful that I had to consult Dr. Johnson. He prohibited my either reading or writing and they are now nearly well. I had to go up to Court and was in Gillisonville nearly a week, after my return had to file away all of my business letters etc, which had accumulated whilst not writing and during my absence. As soon as I got through with that, I had to make arrangements to take the Family to Bay Point, to spend some time and take a drum fish. We had a very pleasant time. Our Family and Howard Bold's went together and carried Father with us. We had very good sport caught 32 drum and any quantity of small fish. I took Etta out one morning, and she caught so many blackfish that she said she could fish no longer for her arms pained her. Whilst there we had a visit from the Ladies of the Officers on the Coast Survey. We found them very pleasant and all appeared to enjoy themselves very much. They have a large encampment at Capt. D. Jenkins, consisting of 8 or 9 large tents with every thing very comfortable and convenient. Two of the Officers and myself are quite thick they call me nothing but Old Bell and scold me very much for not going to see them every Saturday. Bache, Maffit and Bontille are all here. They are gone to examine Foot Point near Hilton Head where they think of establishing a Navy Yard. I suppose you saw in the paper that the U. S. Steam Ship Brooklyn had been in to try the Harbour. The Captain was much pleased with the bar, but said as we had no regular pilot that he could not come up to the Town. She was anchored off the mouth of the Battery River and we had a great many parties going to visit her every day. I paid her several visits with the girls and had my own fun with them coming back. I gave them an accurate discription of the fit of their pantalettes and how the hoops stood when they were going up and down the side ladder. The Officers were nearly all Southerners and a very pleasant set of men, they were very attentive and appeared to take great pleasure in showing us every part of the ship. We gave them a splendid dinner (which you know we can when our Ladies turn out). Most of them said it was the best they had ever seen spread. Some of the Officers asked the Pilot, who was from Savannah, what kind of place Beaufort was, and he told them it had about 20 houses and about 200 inhabitants mostly negroes. They were therefore agreeably surprised and appeared to enjoy themselves very much. Our wives said they were very glad when she left, because they were afraid there would be a rise in the liquor market.

Mary says must say to you that she will write you shortly; that she is so busy preparing the children for school that she has no time to do anything but sew. The children have all outgrown their last summer clothes and she has to make up every thing new, says must return her thanks for the box of very nice things sent her, that we with our friends enjoyed them very much and that the hams were delightful, and that she does not wonder at your praising your up country hams.

I sent Ernest up to Columbia and they sent him back, would not even examine him saying that he was a month behind his class in drill, etc. I was very much provoked for I had written to the Superintendant to ask him if he could take his place, stating that sickness had detained him. He wrote me in reply that if he came and brought a Physcian's certificate that he could enter. General Jones advised him to return and that he would see that he had an appointment next year. I am glad now that he did return as he is not in good health. I have applied for a place for John also. I do not know what he will do when he has to leave me, for I cannot persuade him to go any where without me. He spends his whole time at the (break here) with me and appears to be perfectly content. Julia is in Charleston on a visit. Mrs. Oswald says she is perfectly wild and amuses them very much. I have just received a letter from her saying she intended staying to attend the fair and that I need not write for her to come home. Mr. Stevens the new teacher is staying with us, he is quite young and from the little I have seen of him, appears to be quite a gentleman. Mary says it makes her vexed to think that it is not you and the idea of his taking your room almost makes her dislike him. Give our best love to Miss Sallie and tell her she must bring you down to see us when you lay your crop by. Write me soon and let me know how you get on.

Yours Sincerely,
T. A. Bell

Beaufort, Oct. 11th, 1861

My Dear Friend:

We received your letter last week, and were truly glad to hear from you. I thought you had forgotten us, you have not written for such a length of time. I am very glad to see that you are coming to help to defend our little town. Mother says that you must be sure and come and to bring as many men with you as you can get to come, we have three rifle guns, and are expecting more every day, and plenty of shot, powder, and shells, the only thing we want now is the men.

The gentlemen of this place have drawn up a petition to send the Governor for more men. We have two very fine fortifications on Bay Point and Hilton Head, and there is one on Bradock's Point and another at Sams' Point. Two or three vessels, of the Blockading Fleet, come so near Bay Point, that at times, without the aid of a glass, they can see the steam pipe. Father and Brother John are at Bay Point, they have not been up for about three weeks. The Captain will not be away in the day, but will only let them come up late one evening and return the next morning at five o'clock. Brother E is still at the Citadel, he is very anxious to go to Virginia, but Mother will not consent, she tells him that his own State requires him as much as Virginia does and when we are out of danger he can go, but no sooner. Tell Mr. Willie Wardlaw that if he succeeds in raising his Company he must be sure to come here, for then we will see something of him. Beaufort is to be made headquarters. We had a Fair the other day, it was gotten up by the girls of our school for the relief of the soldiers, everybody prophesied that it was going to be a failure, some said that the girls of our school were such a wild set that they knew we would never succeed, but they were very agreeably disappointed for we succeeded beyond our own expectations. We made three hundred and thirteen dollars clear of all expenses, we made a good deal more, but some china and other things which we borrowed got broken and we had to replace them. Grandmother says I must tell you that she knows Patterson cannot surpass Fannie (Uncle Charlie's little daughter). They all think that Fannie is the smartest child living. I hope you will not forget your promise to me, that is, to give me Patterson. You broke your promise when you got married, and I hope Patterson will not follow your example and break the one you have made for him. All the ladies of Beaufort are as busy as they can be making clothes for the soldiers, and they have made any number of comforts. Mother expects you very soon and if you come you must be sure to bring Mrs. Wardlaw and my little beau. Grandmother, Aunt Ann, and Mother and Julie send their love to Mrs. Wardlaw and best respects to you. Give my love to Mrs. Wardlaw and Patterson.

I remain,

Yours truly
Etta Bell

No envelop in Beaufort I shall have to send this without one.

Beaufort, S. C., Feby 26th '56

Dear Wardlaw:

Having dropped in at the Old Man's last Sunday (as usual) I was informed by Mrs. Bell that she had heard from you and was fav'd (favored) by her with a portion of your letter. I cannot adequately express how much concerned I was at hearing of your severe illness. I had supposed that it was the effect of (bad break) simple attack of rheumatism that kept you at home and prevented travelling in such severe weather. I never dreamed for a moment that your lot was so hard. But at last I was disagreeably informed of the true cause. You will believe me, Dear Ward, when I say that your absence in itself would be a cause of annoyance to me and that the reason of it is a source of pain. I recur with much gratification to the moments passed with you, and trust that ere long the reminiscence may be merged in the reality of seeing you in propria persona. I have no doubt and hope that the coming spring will have a happy effect on you and that you will soon come on to recruit in our dull old Town, where so many of your friends will be happy to see you. I am the more confirmed in this hope from your Father's letter to Mrs. B. I wish I could write something to amuse. But as you left the fort, so is it now - Nothing new - Nothing funny - Nothing to excite one, not even a Kansas emeute, and you know how dull I am. Even on the Bay - the talk is of "how is cotton selling?" The prospects of peace and sage remarks on the Eastern Election - and as you heard all these before you left, I'll not recapitulate.

Business is very dull and I am not making as much money as I could with or my deserts deserve. Clients are few and fees scarce and paid on time. Clients are so apt to forget "that little bill" and so much more apt to forget that "more blessed is he that gives than he that receives" - I wish they would think so and act accordingly. I am making preparations, Oh, my! to go to Gillissonville tomorrow to attend Equity Court and I hope that when I return I may hear of your rapid improvement.

The boys wish "Mr. Wardlaw back so much" (bad break) do not know and will not (bad break) because they like Mr. Wardlaw. (Bad break) hate Mr. Sams. You know some of them are not pleased with his persuasive manner.

We have been latterly surrounded with a glimpse of the sun and his fact is very cheering and invigorating. As my third page is drawing to a close and (I never exceed that) fearing to exhaust you if I go on to fill another (to say nothing of a broken resolve) I must with the truest wishes for your speedy recovery and rapid convalescence take leave of you.

Yrs. Truly,
Chas. E. Bell

- 1-7. Allen McKee born July 6, 1768.
- 1-8. Paul McKee born July 10, 1770, married 9 August 1792, Elizabeth Sayres.

The above taken from the S. C. Historical and Genealogical Magazine, Vol. 23
p. 135 - 138.

Charles E. Bell states in his "Family Connections" that Thomas Bell the second "married a Miss McKee." He also states "John Bell married Miss McKee, a daughter of his uncle John McKee." As John McKee (1-5) was John Bell's uncle, one of John McKee's sisters, either Mary (1-3) or Sarah (1-4) must have been the wife of Thomas Bell.

The following information taken from a family Bible and other sources was given to me by Mrs. James Sullivan Bond (Elise Guerard, daughter of Mrs. Mary Guerard) of Savannah, Georgia. (See letter from Elvira Porter on page 54)

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the existence of solutions of the system of equations (1) under the conditions (2). It is shown that the system (1) has a solution if and only if the conditions (2) are satisfied.

2. In the second part of the paper, the problem of the existence of solutions of the system (1) is solved for the case of a linear system of equations. It is shown that the system (1) has a solution if and only if the conditions (2) are satisfied.

2. THE PROBLEM OF THE EXISTENCE OF SOLUTIONS OF THE SYSTEM (1) FOR A LINEAR SYSTEM OF EQUATIONS

Let us consider the system of equations (1) for a linear system of equations

$$\begin{cases} \sum_{j=1}^n a_{ij} x_j = b_i, & i=1, \dots, m \\ x_j \geq 0, & j=1, \dots, n \end{cases} \quad (3)$$ where a_{ij} and b_i are real numbers, $i=1, \dots, m$, $j=1, \dots, n$. The system (3) has a solution if and only if the conditions (2) are satisfied.

Let us assume that the conditions (2) are satisfied. Then the system (3) has a solution. Let us denote by x^* a solution of the system (3). Then the vector x^* satisfies the system of equations (1) and the conditions (2).

Conversely, let us assume that the system (1) has a solution. Then the vector x^* satisfies the system of equations (1) and the conditions (2). Therefore, the system (3) has a solution.

- *1-5-10-11. Matilda Isabel McKee born May 22, 1857, died 1861.
- 1-5-10-12. John McKee born Sept. 19, 1860.

* Both of these little girls are buried in the Bell lot in Elmwood Cemetery, Columbia, S. C.

I have given very full lines of the McKees because it is of interest to trace their relationship to the Bells through the Ladsons, Chaplins, Barnwells, Stanyarnes, etc., as the following summaries on pages 25 and 29 show.

From the foregoing we find the following:

David McKee married Mary, their son
John McKee married Margaret Johnson, their daughter
Henrietta McKee married John Bell, their son
Theodore Augustus Bell married Mary Chaplin Adams, their son
John Bell married Emily Margaret Milligan.

In St. Helena's Church yard, we find the graves of John McKee, died Sept. 9, 1834, aged 74 years, and Mrs. Margaret McKee, died Aug. 17, 1855, aged 88 years.

Referring to the McKees we have the following:

John Johnson married Rebecca Verdier, their daughter
Margaret Johnson married John McKee, their son
Henry McKee married Jane Bold, their daughter
Mary Ancrum McKee married Augustus Godin Guerard, their daughter
Elise Maria Guerard, born Jan. 21, 1879, married James Sullivan Bond, Dec. 12, 1900.

Referring to the Ladson line, page 58 , we have:

John Ladson married Mary Stanyarne, their daughter
Phoebe Ladson married John Chaplin, their daughter
Martha Chaplin married John Barnwell, their daughter
Ann Barnwell married William deVeaux, their daughter
Sarah deVeaux married John Morel, their daughter
Emily Morel married Robert Godin Guerard, their son
Augustus Godin Guerard married Mary Ancrum McKee, their daughter Elise Marie Guerard married James Sullivan Bond.

2. The first of these is the fact that the country is a very large one, and the population is very numerous. It is estimated that there are about 100 million inhabitants in the country.

3. The second of these is the fact that the country is a very fertile one, and the soil is very rich. It is estimated that there are about 100 million acres of land in the country.

4. The third of these is the fact that the country is a very rich one, and the resources are very abundant. It is estimated that there are about 100 million tons of coal in the country.

5. The fourth of these is the fact that the country is a very powerful one, and the army is very strong. It is estimated that there are about 100 million soldiers in the country.

JOHNSON

1. John Johnson, bachelor, (great-great grandfather of John Bell) born 1742, died Oct. 9, 1802, married by Rev. Faverier, 28 May 1766, Rebecca Verdier, born 1742.

In St. Helena's Church yard we find the following graves:

"Sacred to the memory of John Johnson who departed this life October 9, 1802 in the 61st year of his age."

"To the memory of Mrs. Rebecca Johnson relict of John Johnson. She was a native of Dorchester, S. C., lived 70 years in Beaufort, departed this life on September 3, 1831 in the 90th year of her age."

"Sacred to the memory of William Johnson, son of John Johnson and Rebecca Howard, departed this life April 8, 1850 in the 69th year of age."

I think the above Rebecca is the "beloved wife" of Andrew Verdier, who, after his death, married John Johnson, mother of the above William.

The first part of the course covers the basics of algebra, including the properties of numbers, the rules of arithmetic, and the concept of variables. This section is essential for understanding more complex mathematical concepts.

The second part of the course focuses on geometry, starting with the properties of shapes and the measurement of angles. It then moves on to the study of lines and planes, and finally to the concept of area and volume.

The third part of the course is dedicated to the study of functions and graphs. This section introduces the concept of a function and shows how it can be represented by a graph. It also covers the basic rules of algebra for functions.

The course is designed to provide a solid foundation in algebra and geometry, and to prepare students for more advanced studies in mathematics. It is a comprehensive introduction to the subject, covering all the essential topics and concepts.

VERDIER

"Andrew Verdier, gentleman, of Okatee Creek, Granville County, departed this life 18 February 1766, consumption." In his will he says "I bequeath unto my beloved son John Mark Verdier that tract of land on Okatee Creek in ye Township of Purrysburgh containing 500 acres of land with all the tenements and appurtenances thereto, etc."

"I give and bequeath unto my beloved daughter Jane now ye wife of Gilbert Pepper the sum of fifty pounds current money, etc."

"I give and bequeath unto my well beloved wife Rebeccah the third part of my personal estate" mentioning among other things "silver soop spoons" and "silver tea spoons."

Signed Andrew Verdier 1762, August 21.

"Proved by virtue of a dedemus directed to Mr. Thos. Middleton, Esq. Lieut. Gov., 12 June 1766 at the same time qualified Rebeccah Johnson, late Rebeccah Verdier."

"David Adams of New England, and South Carolina, and some of his descendents."

"Very early in New England history, there was a Nathaniel Adams" (great-great-great-great-great-great-grandfather of John Bell) "at Newport, at Weymouth and at Boston where he died in 1675 and his will is on record. His wife's name was Sarah. He had a son Nathaniel Adams born in 1630 and died in 1690. His will is also on record. His widow Mary died in 1717. He had a son Nathaniel born at Boston in 1653, died at Charlestown, Mass. in March 1710. His wife Hannah died in 1699. They had Nathaniel Adams born in 1681, and David Adams born in 1682 who removed to South Carolina. Nathaniel removed to Falmouth, England."

S.C. Genealogies by A. S. Salley, Jr. in "The State," September 1901.

From "History and Genealogy of The Habersham Family," (p.26-27) we take the following:

"Among those contributing to the honor of the family are Nathaniel Adams, who, in 1770 gave 70 pounds toward the erection of an Episcopal Church upon Edisto Island, and member of the Edisto Company for defense of the colony; also John Adams, Ensign of Old Military Company, and David Adams, a member of the Volunteer Company; also Capt. Nathaniel Adams of the Revolution and others who at all times were on the front when duty called them - a family good, tried and true, whose descendents are numerous in America."

DAVID ADAMS (1682 - 1720)

David Adams, son of Nathaniel Adams and wife Hannah Wilmott, born 1682, died 1720, married Elizabeth Capers, daughter of Richard Capers and his wife Mary Barnett, daughter of William Barnett of Jamaica. (I have proof of this in a will.) Elizabeth Capers Adams married 2nd April 12, 1727 John Jenkins Sr. of Edisto Island, S.C., born 1680, died 1737. (See Jenkins line p.44)

- 1-3. David Adams born circa 1718 died 1786, married 1st in 1739, Ann Jenkins (See Jenkins line, p. 44), married 2nd Catherine Grimball (See Grimball line, p.46)
- 1-4. Nathaniel Adams married 1st August 14, 1740, Mary Capers, his cousin, married 2nd Margaret Ellis in 1744, daughter of Edmund Ellis. By that union was born 5 children. Their second son, Nathaniel Adams born in St. Helena's Parish, moved to Georgia. Married Ann Bolton and was the progenitor of the Adams family in Georgia. For more extensive genealogy, see "History and Genealogy of the Habersham Family." (See Milligan line, p. 69)

DAVID ADAMS (1718 - 1786)

David Adams in his will (Vol. 21, Book B, Charleston Co. page 798, Historical Commission, Columbia, S.C.) bequeaths to son William Adams "That tract of land laying between my Brother Benjamin Jenkins and the place I now live on." "I give and bequeath to my son Barnard Adams:" (a list of slaves followed) He speaks of my three sons, Nathaniel, David and Barnard Adams, saying they "shall build my son William Adams a house and kitchen." Also again names "my four sons Nathaniel, David, Barnard and William."

BENJAMIN ADAMS

In the Historical and Genealogical Magazine, Vol. 20-21, p. 246, we find the following: "Benjamin Jenkins plantation, 'The Rocks,' on Wadmalow Island, mortgaged to brother Samuel and then Benjamin sells his portion to Benjamin Adams."

Also in Vol. 3 V., p. 15, we find: "The State of S. C. To all to whom these presents shall come, I, Benjamin Adams of Charleston in the State aforesaid, send greetings:" "I, the said Benjamin Adams by my bond or obligation bearing even date with these presents am held and firmly bound with Mary Adams, guardian of Etsell Adams, in the present sum of $3,975.96 and for the payment of $1,847.48 with interest thereon from this date, etc." He then gives lists (names) of slaves "to be delivered to Mary Adams" (his step-mother).

BARRON

"The Barron family is of pure Scottish descent. The line through which Dr. A. I. Barron descended is traced back to James Barone who was one of the lay commissioners who with John Knox attended the first General Assembly of the Church of Scotland which met in Edinburgh on the 20th day of December 1560. John Knox and commissioners James Barone (the name in Scotland is spelled Barrone and Barone) and Edward Houp were the representatives of the Presbyterian congregation in Edinburgh."

"The original Barrone or Barron settlement in Ireland was at Carrickfergus, in County Antrim."

"From Ireland the ancestors of Dr. Barron emigrated to America and settled in Penn. either in York or Lancaster county. From Penn. several members of the family moved, some stopping and settling in Va. and others coming on to York County, S. C."

"In February 1830 Dr. Barron was married to Miss Mary Adams Pressley. The plantation now called the "Hicklin Place" was the summer home of Mrs. Barron's father Mr. William Pressley of Charleston, and there she had been born. Here also had her brothers, Judge Ben Pressley, Dr. William Pressley and Dr. Samuel Pressley been born and there her mother had died."

The above extracts are copied from a sketch of "Dr. Archibald Ingram Barron" written by Dr. Robert Lathan and published in the Yorkville Enquirer, August 24, 1887, condensed by W. A. Pressley, Rock Hill, S. C., December 1925.

William Pressley married Eliza Eleanor Adams, daughter of David Adams and Ann Chaplin.

Revolutionary Record of David Adams, Jr.

The following was copied from an edition of "The News and Courier" (Charleston, S. C.) published a good many years ago over the signature of A. S. Salley, Jr., who had just discovered this old Company roll among several others.

Edisto Island Old Militia Co.

"This is a letter from Col. Glover which explains itself. It is addressed to the Hon. Henry Laurens, Esq. President of the Council of Safety, Charles Town. Endorsed on the back Col. Joseph Glover, 2 Oct. 1775 presented to Council the 3rd commissions, signed the Oct. ye 2, 1775: Sir: Several men whose names are subscribed to the within association on Edisto Island to form themselves into a Volunteer Company agreeable to a resolution of the Provincial Congress have made applications to me to procure commissions to the following gentlemen to command them, viz: Joseph Jenkins to be their Captain, Archibald Whaley, First Lieutenant, Joseph Fickling, Jr., Second Lieutenant and Jeremiah Easton, Third Lieutenant or Ensign. I have applied to the Governor some time ago for those very commissions, with some others which he refused to grant. I, therefore, now pray the Council of Safety will direct commissions to be made out for the above gentlemen. If approved by them I believe it will be necessary for me to return the enclosed paper to the officers when the Council of Safety have done with it. I am, Sir, with regard your very humble servant, Joseph Glover."

"N. B. Please procure an Ensigns Commission for the Edisto Island Old Militia Company. They have choose Mr. John Adams to be Ensign for the Company."

"Captain Joseph Jenkins Company."

"We the subscribers, do agree to form ourselves into a volunteer Company under the command of the following officers: Mr. Joseph Jenkins, Capt., Mr. Archibald Whaley, First Lieutenant, Mr. Joseph Fickling, Jr., Second Lieutenant. The uniforms to be blue coat with white cuffs and lapels with Jackettes and Breeches of white, with a fantail hat. To meet at least once a week, to go through the exercises. We further agree to the orders of the above officers till such time as commission is granted.

Nathaniel Adams, Benjamin Jenkins, Richard Jenkins, John Adams, William Stanyarne and David Adams, Jr."

TO THE EDITOR:
I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst. regarding the matter of the purchase of the book "The Principles of Chemistry" by Sir Isaac Newton. I am sorry to hear that you have been unable to obtain a copy of the book. I have checked the records of the Department and find that the book was indeed purchased by the Department in 1958. I am sorry that it has not been available to you. I have arranged for a copy to be sent to you as soon as possible.

Very truly yours,
[Signature]

Enclosed for you are two copies of the book "The Principles of Chemistry" by Sir Isaac Newton. I hope you will find them useful. If you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

CAPERS

From "Dictionary of English Surnames" by Beasley. Also from "Dictionary of English Surnames" by Ferguson, we take the following:

"Mr. McKenzie doing research work in the Library in Cincinnati quotes: 'The earliest members of our family so far as known to us is mentioned in the Parliamentary Writs of the 15th Century. This was Thomas le Capiere, whose name is written in the Norman French form generally used at that time in the English Courts of Justice. The derivation of the name is thus stated by the professional genealogists. It is from the old Norse Kappi or Kampa Cognate with the Anglo-Saxon Caempa or Cempa meaning Champion or Combatant. Capper or Caper is still used in the north of England as meaning superiority in general. The S in Capers means son of, so the name as a whole seems to mean son of the Champion.'

"The granddaughter of Thomas Farr Capers, Miss Marion Capers, was the last that I heard of to possess the original seal once belonging to Gabriel Capers (em) which showed the Coat of Arms and Crest of the Capers family. It has always been handed down that the three brothers, Richard, William and Gabriel (a school teacher), came to South Carolina and settled Capers Island where they lived for some time.' "

Excerpts from Dr. William Johnson's Genealogy, p. 442 - 443.

RICHARD CAPERS

"Richard Capers (great-great-great-great grandfather of John Bell) settled in the province of South Carolina some time prior to Jan. 20, 1691-2 when Thomas Rose conveyed to him a lot on "the Streets Leading to or from the Oyster Poynt" in Charles Town.

"He had been twice married. By his first wife he had a son, William, who settled in what subsequently became Christ Church Parish and has had many descendants. The late Bishop Capers was one of his descendants.

"Richard Capers, by his second wife, Mary, had five children: Richard, Charles, Thomas, Mary and Elizabeth. Richard Capers' widow Mary, subsequently married William Chapman and his daughters Mary and Elizabeth Capers married Richard Reynolds and David Adams, respectively, prior to February 20, 1710-11."

The following is quoted from Margaret Pickens Hart (nee Adams) a great granddaughter of David Lawrence Adams:

"It seems there were at least two Adams branches in South Carolina from which we are descended - one founded by William Adams from the Province of Maine, of which Massachusetts was then a part to Charles Towne, S. C. in 1698. The other David Adams, 1682 - 1720, a New England Mariner."

“John Barnwell (great-great-great-great grandfather of John Bell) the progenitor of the Barnwell family of South Carolina came to S. C. from Dublin, Ireland in 1701.

“In South Carolina he at once took a high position and was soon made Deputy Secretary of the Colony and Clerk of the Council and distinguished himself as a volunteer under Col. William Rhett against the French and Spaniards in Sewee Bay in September 1706, but having taken sides with the Dissenters in the Church Acts troubles of 1704-07 was turned out of his offices; but the Dissenters gaining control of the Assembly in 1707 he was made Comptroller of the Colony, member of the Commons House of Assembly and subsequently of the Governor's Council and a Deputy Surveyor General; was Colonel Commander of the first expedition in 1712 against the Tuscarora Indians in North Carolina whom he defeated and made a treaty with, earning for himself the soubriquet of “Tuscarora John;” was Colonel of S. C. forces in the Yemassee War 1715, and was agent for the Province in London during the Revolution of 1719. He married Anne Berners in 1704.

“A letter from John Page, Alderman, and subsequently Lord Mayor of Dublin to John Harleston in South Carolina dated Dublin December 1, 1708, contains the following post script:

“Cosson pray in yor next let me know wither there be any such man liveing neare Charles tounne which they call Mr. John Barnwell he went from hence about Seaven yearers agon; out of a humor to goe to travel, but for no other Reasson, he is the Son of a verry good gentleman and Gentlewoeman, and hath Extriordinary friends and Relashons in this Kingdome, and therefore let me know how he lives and in what Condition.”

S. C. Historical and Genealogical Magazine, Vol. II,
No. 1, January 1901, p. 47, 48, 49, 50, etc.

In the above mentioned S. C. Historical and Genealogical Magazine, we find, on page 46, a cut of the Barnwell Arms, and the following taken from Burke's General Armory, 3rd edition:

“These arms were taken from the seal of Col. John Barnwell, the emigrant, and they are the same as those of the Barnewall family of Cricks-town, County Meath, Ireland, the parent stock from which the noble houses of Kingsland and Trimblestown branched, and which was established in Ireland by Sir Michael de Barnewall, one of the companions in arms of Strongbow.”

JOHN BARNWELL

The following is from "The Land We Love," an old magazine edited by General D. H. Hill, Charlotte, North Carolina, November 1866 -

The golden warrior trails in the dust where among his lifeless defenders lies the bloody corpse of Harold, "the last of the Saxon Kings." The mighty hand of Norman William grasped the contested prize; and the fair realm of "Merrie England" is the spoil of the Conqueror. Among the followers is one who bears the name of Barnevelt or Barnewall, ancestor of the present family of Barnwell. And now turn from this scene of conflict and follow to the shores of Emerald Isle. In the midst of a group of mailclad warriors and fierce barbarians stands a fair haired maiden, daughter and heiress of the savage Monarch Dermot Mac Morrough, King of Leinster. It is her nuptials which are being celebrated in sight of blood and death and her spouse is yon dark leader of the Norman Knights, Richard de Clare, Earl of Strigal; better known as Strongbow. Among the knights who, with him, made Ireland their home, was Sir Michael de Barnewall, founder of the Houses of Kingsland and Trimblestone. Col. John Barnwell had at an early age embraced the Protestant faith and being discarded by his stern sire sought a home on the smiling sea-coast of South Carolina. Amid the forests of her fair sister, the Old North State, he did battle with the cruel Tuscarora Indians and by his prowess won the name of "Tuscarora John." Near Dublin, in Ireland, stands the ancient fortress of Dimnagh Castle, once the strong hold of the Barnwells; now in the hands of strangers. The front seems one solid mass of ivy, save where there are openings in the rich dark green for the windows. The moat too is in good repair and the strong wall still remains. Could those brave old ancestors look down from their homes of rest they would find no stain on their ancient shield and their descendants still hold firmly to their proud old Motto: "Malo Mori quam Foedari" - "I would rather die than be disgraced."

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the transparency and accountability of the organization. This section also outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze data, ensuring that the information is reliable and up-to-date.

2. The second part of the document focuses on the implementation of the proposed changes. It details the steps involved in the transition process, from the initial planning stage to the final execution. This section also addresses the potential challenges that may arise during the implementation phase and provides strategies to overcome them.

3. The third part of the document discusses the impact of the proposed changes on the organization's overall performance. It highlights the expected benefits, such as increased efficiency, reduced costs, and improved customer satisfaction. This section also includes a comparison of the current state of the organization with the projected future state, demonstrating the positive impact of the proposed changes.

4. The fourth part of the document provides a summary of the key findings and conclusions. It reiterates the importance of the proposed changes and the need for continued monitoring and evaluation. This section also includes a list of recommendations for further action, ensuring that the organization remains committed to the goals and objectives outlined in the document.

5. The fifth part of the document is a conclusion, summarizing the main points of the document and expressing the confidence in the proposed changes. It also includes a statement of appreciation for the support and cooperation of all stakeholders involved in the process.

	John Godfrey - -"

"The Chaplins of the Coast of South Carolina have been settled there as far back as 1678 or earlier. We find John Chaplin and his wife Ann Chaplin, who had grant of land on James Island testifying before the grand Council that he had been among the Yemassee Indians with whom the Spaniards were then tampering and that he had personally seen arms being delivered to the Indians. This was prior to the Yemassee uprising in 1715."

"The Chaplin Coat of Arms, shown today, is taken from the silver which has descended in the Chaplin family, and was granted to their English ancestors in the year 1593. The name is one of the oldest in England and in America, dates back to Francis Chaplin who settled in Virginia in 1608, and to Thomas and Isaac who came to Virginia in 1610."

The above excerpts are from the papers of Mr. William Edward Fripp, and were taken from the S. C. Historical and Genealogical Magazines, public records, family papers and Land Grants.

In the Compendium of American Genealogy Vol. V, we find the following listed under Immigrant Ancestors, page 753:

1-5-1-7-1. Elizabeth Phoebe Jenkins and Thomas Wright Rhodes.

Issue:

1-5-1-7-1-1. Julia Rhodes married Joseph J. Porter (son of Joseph Porter and wife Mary (Bythwood) Porter.) Their daughter was Elvira Porter who gave to the children of John Bell a few pieces of flat silver (marked "J. J. P."), in appreciation for some kindness he had shown her in the days of long ago.

1-5-1-8. Saxby Chaplin married Isabella Field.

Issue:

1-5-1-8-1. Thomas Chaplin born 1822, married _____ McDowell.

1-5-1-8-2. Saxby Chaplin born 1825, married Ann O'Hear Witsell, granddaughter of the first "Johnson Hagood of S. C. who was born in Virginia. He was a prominent member of the Charleston Bar." Major Saxby Chaplin and his wife Ann O'Hear (Witsell) Chaplin were the great grandparents of Mr. William Edward Fripp of Walterboro, S. C., who kindly gave me valuable information concerning the Chaplins, Fripps, Stanyarnes and Ladsons, of whom he is a descendant.

From the above records we find:

John Chaplin married Ann _____, their son

John Chaplin married Phoebe Ladson, their son

William Chaplin married Sarah (Saxby) Reynolds, their son

Thomas Chaplin married Elizabeth Fripp, their daughter

Mary Rebecca Chaplin married Benjamin Adams, their daughter

Mary Chaplin Adams married Theodore Augustus Bell, their son

John Bell married Emily Margaret Milligan.

The following is a letter from Elvira Porter written to Mary Adams (Richards) Fuller - February 27, 1924:

Dear May:

I will be very glad to give William Congdon any bits of information about his kin folks that lie in my power, and I will see if I can learn something from Mrs. Marceline Jenkins Chaplin, of Beaufort, as she is about the oldest one of those two families now living, as far as I know. I know I am correct when I tell you that your Grandmother Bell's mother was Miss Mollie Chaplin, who married Mr. Ben Adams, and my Grandmother Rhodes' mother was her sister, Miss Sallie Chaplin. Those two sisters had brothers. I heard of Uncle Ben Chaplin and Uncle Archie Chaplin, and I think there was another brother named Paul - this last was the only one I ever saw. I guess you are getting confused already. My Mother's mother's father was Col. John Jenkins of St. Helena Island, South Carolina. His wife was, as I already said, Miss Sallie Chaplin, so that "Aunt Mamie" Bell and Mamma's mother, Elizabeth Phoebe Jenkins (who married Mr. Thomas Wright Rhodes) were first cousins, two sisters children. My Grandmother had three sisters who married as follows: Mary Jenkins married Dr. Lee, whose family settled about Abbeville and Due West, S. C. Sarah Jenkins, who was Mrs. Charles Myers, they owned plantation on the Combahee River. Emmeline, whose first husband was a Mr. Thomas Fripp of St. Helena Island. After being widowed, she married Mr. John Webb, and she owned a plantation and negroes on the main-land on the Coosaw River, adjoining your "Uncle Bill" Adams' (place) plantation. Then there were two brothers John Jenkins and Capt. Daniel Jenkins. The former was the Grandfather of Rev. John Jenkins, who had charge, for a time, of the church of which your husband is a member. I really do not know whether Daniel Jenkins is living or not. You see, those "old folks" of our families lived on St. Helena Island in those good old days of the long ago, and the Episcopal Church on this island became extinct during the Civil War, and I have no idea that the Church Records could be found anywhere. A Yankee stole the records of St. Helena Church in Beaufort and took them north. Years afterwards, some other Northern man got possession of them and wrote to Bishop Capers about them. He had them sent to him, and I read in the paper that they covered a period of some sixty years and were very valuable. Uncle Teedy's mother was a Miss Henrietta McKee of Beaufort. She married Mr. John Bell, and after her death Mr. Bell married Miss Margaret Bythewood (a first cousin of my father.) Your Grandpa Bell's half brothers were Charles E. Bell and Julius Bell, and their one sister, Ann Dupont Bell, all of whom have passed away. Cousin Charley Bell's widow, who was Miss Fannie Kirk, is now a very old lady, and her home is with her son Edward Willingham Bell of Savannah, Georgia (quite a wealthy man, I've been told). He has two sisters, Mrs. Ostrom and Mrs. Patrick, both widows. Uncle Teedy's Uncle Henry McKee had three daughters living, Miss Eliza, living in Beaufort, Mrs. Louisa Bailey and Mrs. Mary Guerard of Savannah. All old ladies at this day.

(Signed) Cousin Elvira Porter

FRIPP

The will of John Fripp, Senior, planter of St. Helena's Island, S. C., is found in full in Will Book Vol. 5, Charleston, S. C., in the Historical Commission, Columbia, S. C.

Excerpts from it are as follows:

“To my wife Sarah Fripp.

To my grand son William, son of John Fripp, Junior, lately deceased.

To my grand son, Paul Fripp, son of John Fripp, Junior, lately deceased:

All my negroes and stock etc., equally divided among all my grand children.

To be given their land or slaves at 18 years of age, or marriage.”

Signed - John Fripp, 1 May 1742

Appoint my friends:

Thos. Wigg	)
John Barnwell	)
John Edwards	)	Ex.
My grand son John Fripp	)

Recorded 14 Aug., 1744

JOHN FRIPP, SENIOR

John Fripp, Sr., (great-great-great-great grandfather of John Bell) was born in 1681, “buried 29 May 1742 aged 61.” His wife Sarah was buried 9 Jan. 1756.

JOHN FRIPP, JUNIOR

John Fripp, Jr., (great-great-great grandfather of John Bell) son of John Fripp and wife Sarah, was born in South Carolina and resided there until 1739. He was buried Dec. 2, 1739 at Beaufort. He was High Sheriff of Colleton County in 1702. (Journals of the House of Assembly 1702, p. 43-44) He married Martha, probably Jenkins, and had seven children. For names, births, etc., see S. C. Historical and Genealogical Magazine, Vol. 23, p. 66-67.

JOHN FRIPP, III

John Fripp, III, (great-great grandfather of John Bell) son of John Fripp, Jr. and wife Martha, was born March 15, 1721, “baptized Aug. 3, 1730 by Jones.” He was elected a Justice of the Peace by the General Assembly March 30, 1776. (Journal of the General Assembly of S. C., March 26, 1776, April 11, 1776, p. 17) He married April 19, 1747, Elizabeth Hand, spinster (daughter of John Hand and wife Martha), born Nov. 22, 1725.

The following table shows the results of the experiments conducted on the effect of temperature on the rate of reaction between hydrogen peroxide and potassium iodide.

Temperature (°C)	Time taken for colour to appear (s)	Rate of reaction (1/time)
10	120	0.0083
20	60	0.0167
30	30	0.0333
40	15	0.0667
50	8	0.1250

From the above table it can be seen that as the temperature increases, the time taken for the colour to appear decreases, and therefore the rate of reaction increases.

This is because at higher temperatures the particles have more kinetic energy and are moving faster, so they are more likely to collide with each other and react.

The following graph shows the effect of temperature on the rate of reaction between hydrogen peroxide and potassium iodide.

John Fripp, III and wife Elizabeth Hand had twelve children, among them being Elizabeth Fripp (their 3rd child) born Sept. 18, 1750, married Sept. 18, 1764, Thomas Chaplin, born March 26, 1742. (See Chaplin line p. 53)

For complete list of the twelve children of John and Elizabeth Fripp see S. C. Historical and Genealogical Magazine Vol. 23, p. 67-70.

The following are excerpts from John Fripp's will, found in Will Book, Vol. 19, page 250, Historical Commission, Columbia, S. C.: "My wife Elizabeth and four daughters Martha Chaplin, Elizabeth Chaplin (mentioned above), Sarah Graham and Mary Jenkins." Also his "three unmarried daughters Rebecca, Hannah and Ann." And his "four sons." He left a very large estate, slaves, land, etc.

Signed - John Fripp, 20 July, 1780

Proved 8 September 1781

From the foregoing we find -

John Fripp, Senior, married Sarah, their son

John Fripp, Junior, married Martha, their son

John Fripp, III, married Elizabeth Hand, their daughter

Elizabeth Fripp, married Thomas Chaplin, their daughter

Mary Rebecca Chaplin married Benjamin Adams, their daughter

Mary Chaplin Adams married Theodore Augustus Bell, their son

John Bell married Emily Margaret Milligan.

LADSON

We have many records of the Ladsons in the Province of South Carolina. We quote a few as follows:

From Hotten's Original List of Emigrants 1600 - 1700, page 385:

"August 13, 1679, Ladson, John in the Barq. Plantacion for Carolina, Aser Sharpe, Commander."

"1679 - In the list of emigrants from Barbadoes in the year 1679 we find the names of Robert Daniel, Thomas Drayton, John Ladson and Arthur Middleton - names which have since been interwoven with the history of the State."

From "South Carolina under the Prop's. Government," page 182.

We find many warrants for acres of land: "one for 400 acres in 1679" - "500 acres in 1681" - "a plantation of 500 acres in 1682 upon the Ashley River" and others.

"John Ladson served in the Commons House of Assembly from 1685 - 1698."

Journals printed - A. S. Salley

"The name Ladson seems to be a very rare one. According to data obtained from the family Bible of James H. Ladson, two brothers, John and Francis Ladson, came from Northamptonshire in England. This Bible was a gift to James H. Ladson from his Mother Judith Smith Ladson, and is inscribed on the flyleaf "James H. Ladson September 1, 1820, a present from his Mother Judith Ladson."

"John Ladson married Mary (daughter of Thomas and Mary Stanyarne)." Note to his Mothers entry by J. H. Ladson, "I have the mourning ring of Mary Ladson who died, aged 40 years, December 8, 1707."

Abstracts from Records, The Court of Ordinary (1692 - 1700) A. S. Salley, page 262 -

"Oct. 1, 1698 Mary Ladson, Capt. William Smith and Jonathan Amory (merchant) executed their bond to Gov. Blake for Mrs. Ladson's faithful performance of the trust of Administratrix of the estate of John Ladson.

Witness: William Gibson"

MILLIGAN

JOSEPH MILLIGAN (1746 - 1809)

The following certificate shows that Joseph Milligan was "about to sail for North America in 1771" for it says, "The bearer Joseph Milligan is born of very honest and reputable Protestant parents. He hath behaved from his infancy, honestly and soberly being free from every kind of vice. He is an unmarried man, and as he is about to sail for North America, he is hereby heartily recommended to all well disposed Christians. Certified at Rathfriland in the County Downe, July 28th, 1771."

Sam Barber - Diss. Min.
William Gordon

Twenty-two years later we have the following:

Hopewell-Long-Canes, Abbeville County, South Carolina, Feb. 5, 1793 - it is hereby certified that the Bearer Joseph Milligan has lived the seven years past in this congregation, been a spirited supporter, lived an honest and useful life both as a citizen and Christian as far as known to us. He is in full communion in the Church and has been for some time, past, in the Station of a Lay-Elder, having been regularly inaugurated into that Office. It is also hereby certified that Margaret Milligan, his wife, has supported and still does support among us, a blameless Christian character, conducting with uniform prudence in her life. She is in full communion in the Church. They are hereby heartily recommended to any Society they may choose to join.

By order of the Session

Francis Cumming

The Three Lots of Land which I purchased at the Sales of the Estate of Gen. Christopher Gadsden (or Gen. Christopher Gadsden and Company) be sold when son Joseph is 21 and money divided to give equal share to my wife Margaret Milligan, and each of our children then living, including our daughter Susannah Ellison. If Joseph should die before 21, then sale and division of Three Lots be made when my youngest daughter living arrives at 21 years. At death of my wife Margaret, as soon as my youngest child then living is 21.

The House and Lot No. 73 King Street, also all negroes and Property not yet mentioned, be sold for cash and equally divided among my 7 children - Susannah, Rachel, Elizabeth, Mary Byers, Jane, Joseph and Margaret or as many as are living.

I appoint Mr. James Adger and Mr. John Christian Beile, both of Charleston, as Executors - My wife, Margaret Milligan, Executrix.

Signed - 18 February, 1809

In the Milligan line I have included the lines of the Byers, Camfields, Fitz Randolphins and Longstreets.

The following is a letter from Joseph Milligan to "Kate." I presume his niece - a daughter of his sister Rachel Milligan Jones. The letter is dated "Augusta, April 5, 1876."

"My dear Kate, You ask me to write you all I know of the Milligans, but I am a very poor chronicler of the past and remember but a small part of what I once knew. My grandfathers name was Robert Milligan who lived near the city of Newry in County Down, in, or in the immediate neighborhood of a village or small town named Rathfriland. He was twice married. By his first marriage he had three sons Joseph my father, Robert and Thomas. I do not remember now whether he had any daughters or not by that marriage. By the second marriage he had children, but I know not how many. One of them, a son came to the U. States and settled in New York. In the year 1809 when my father, Eliza, and sister Ellison spent the summer at the North, they called on him. He was engaged in the tobacco business. In 1856 or 1859 I received a letter from Mr. Arthur Harper Grimshaw of Wilmington, Del. making inquiry about our relationship. Mr. William Grimshaw, his father married Harriet Milligan, a cousin of ours. He was the author of several school histories - some of which you may have seen. This Harriet Grimshaw (Milligan) kept a very respectable school for young ladies in Philadelphia and I often passed his house in Chestnut Street when I was in that city in 1822. Mrs. Harriet Grimshaw's father (Milligan) died and his widow married Mr. Arthur Harper an Irish gentleman. I remember of seeing Harriet Milligan then just married to Mr. Grimshaw with Mr. Arthur Harper and wife at our house in Mazyckborough in the days of my boyhood. Mr. A. Harper was often at Mr. Rupels, Mr. Adgers, and at our house. Mary Adams knew more than any of the rest of our family of the genealogy of the Milligans, but death has cut us off from that source of information.

"There was in Deleware I think a gentleman of our name Judge J. J. Milligan. He was a member of Congress and a man of distinction. This Judge Milligan may have been a son of my father's brother who once lived in New York."

The above are excerpts from a letter signed "Joseph Milligan."

Gilleen, Garrison, Maryland
September 18, 1935

My dear Mrs. Bell,

Your letter of September 8, inquiring about my "Milligan Ancestry," was received here in my absence from home, and I take the first opportunity of answering it. My Milligan forbears were Scotch from Ayrshire, not Irish, though they doubtless had relatives amongst the Scotch - Irish in County Down.

My great-great grandfather, George Milligan of Bohemia River, Cecil County, Maryland, was the only son of a Robert Milligan of Glen Ean, Ayrshire, was born there in 1720, emigrated to Charlestown, Maryland, in 1744, and there married in 1751, Katharine (1730 - ?) daughter of Colonel John Baldwin (1690 - 1752) of Cecil County, Maryland. George Milligan died there in 1783, and the Manor House built by him in 1751 on the Bohemia River is now the property of my Cousin David K. E. Fisher, Jr.

His son (my great grandfather) Robert Milligan, was born in 1754 and died in 1806. Was educated at St. Andrew's University, Scotland, and at the Inner Temple, and practiced law in Wilmington and Philadelphia.

His daughter Catharine Mary Milligan, born 1790, died 1849, married in 1812 my grandfather, Louis McLane of Delaware (1786 - 1857). (Member of Congress, U. S. Senator, Minister to England, Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of State, etc.)

His son, John J. Milligan, is the one you refer to in your letter who lived in Wilmington, Delaware, was a member of Congress, a Judge and a man of some distinction. Our Milligan male line died out last year with the death unmarried of my 2nd cousin (his grandson) John J. Milligan.

The Robert Milligan name in our family was kept up in the name of my uncle, Governor Robert M. McLane (1815 - 1898) my brother Mayor Robert M. McLane (1867 - 1903) and my small grandson, also Robert Milligan McLane (Feb. 3, 1930).

Cordially yours,

(Signed) Allan McLane

I think the above letter is of interest. However, I make no claim to relationship, for I have not attempted to follow up this line.

In the Milligan line, I have traced from the first ancestor down to Emily Margaret (Milligan) Bell.

Robert Milligan (great grandfather of Emily Margaret (Milligan) Bell) had three sons, Joseph, Robert and Thomas.

JOSEPH MILLIGAN (1746 - 1809)

1. Joseph Milligan born Feb. 12, 1746, died Sept. 2, 1809, married March 16, 1777 Margaret Byers, born Jan. 25, 1761, died Aug. 5, 1820, aged 59. They had ten children.

- 1-10. Margaret Milligan 2nd, born Feb. 7, 1802, died Nov. 10, 1861.

DR. JOSEPH MILLIGAN (1800 - 1884)

1-9. Joseph Milligan, as we have seen, was the only son of Joseph Milligan and wife Mary Byers, who lived to maturity. He was beloved by an adoring family, and always lent a helping hand to those in trouble. Later in life, when he became infirm, he continued to give wise counsel to those with whom he came in contact.

The story is told that he was a gay "young blade in Charleston Society," and at the age of 18 or 19 he went abroad with a tutor, his family thinking that such a trip would be beneficial in many ways. However, the tutor was not as staid and sober minded as Joseph's mother had thought, and the two young men had a wonderful time, mostly spent in Paris. Even though the trip was not just what his mother had planned, it must have had a sobering effect upon him, for he was, from then on, quite a serious and mature gentleman. Perhaps, however, marrying at the age of 20, also contributed to his seriousness and stability. He developed a deep spirituality and was known for his strong religious conviction. He was a man of refinement, education and great culture, a truly noble Patriarch.

How do I know all this, you may ask. I know from what his daughters, Mother Bell, Aunt Retta and Aunt Marion, have told me, and from the letters I have read from him and to him. All show the characteristics I have mentioned.

From "The Mercury" published in Charleston, S. C., Joseph Milligan was in the class of graduates of the South Carolina Medical College, April 1826. The Mercury states "the Gentlemen upon whom Degrees were conferred with the titles of their dissertations were: 'Joseph Milligan, Charleston, S. C., Tetanus,' and twenty-five other graduates."

Joseph Milligan lived in Charleston, S. C. until 1830, removing to Hamburg, S. C., and then about 1835 he removed to Augusta, Ga., where nine of his fourteen children were born. He finally had to discontinue the practice of medicine (owing to his eye sight, I believe) and was for many years connected with the Georgia Railroad and Banking Co.

In a brochure entitled "Georgia Railroad and Banking Company, an Historic Narrative 1833 - 1945" by Mary G. Cumming, we quote from the 40th Convention (1875) as follows:

"This committee may not forbear to pay a well merited tribute to the late cashiers Dr. Joseph Milligan and Dr. J. A. S. Milligan, father and son, who in all trusts that were ever committed to them showed perfect integrity and painstaking fidelity, and in the opinion of the committee, it is especially notable and gratifying in these days of degeneracy and official dereliction which seems to pervade the land from the 'still house' to the 'White House.'"

Augusta, Georgia

In the Cemetery in Augusta, Georgia, we find a tombstone as follows:
"Abiel Camfield, a native of Newark, New Jersey, departed this life April 11, 1828, age 43 years."

Also we find that - When Mrs. Rebecca Longstreet Camfield (wife of Abiel III) died in 1876 at the age of 90, she was spoken of in the Augusta, Ga. paper in a tribute by Judge Gould as, "the oldest native of Augusta. A woman of strong mind and genial temper, the life of every social circle in which she mingled."

FITZ RANDOLPH

The following is copied from a book owned by Mrs. M. Berrien Brooks. The book is in the hand writing of Nathaniel Fitz Randolph. There is also a "copy" made by Joseph Milligan.

"Nathaniel Fitz Randolph of New Jersey to his nephew Benjamin Fitz Randolph of Philadelphia." (Son of Benjamin and Sarah Dennis.) (Benjamin Fitz Randolph was an uncle of Hannah Fitz Randolph Longstreet.)

"At your request I have undertaken to give you a sketch of the Genealogy of our family as far back as I can trace it. History informs us that in the reign of King James the first, Old England felt a hot persecution. My grandmother by my fathers side was begotten in Old England, her parents in sd (said) persecution fled into Holland with many others for refuge, and sojourned a short time there in a town called Lyden, and there my sd grandmother was born in the year 1620. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Blossom, but they hearing of America two ships crews of sd refugees set sail from Holland on the 20th day of August 1620, and arrived at a place called Plymouth near Cape Cod on the 9th day of November 1620. My sd grandmother being a babe at the breast, came into New England with her parents in one of sd ships, and these two ships crews were the first white people that ever wintered in New England. My grandfathers name was Edward Fitz Randolph. He came from Notting-ham shire in Old England when he was a lad with his parents about the year 1630. In process of time my sd grandfather Edward Fitz Randolph married my sd grandmother Elizabeth Blossom and lived at a town called Barnstable near Cape Cod."

The Compendium of American Genealogy says: "He (Edward Fitz Randolph) was baptized in 1607, died in 1675 or 1679, was of royal and surety baron descent and was a jurymen at Barnstable, Mass. in 1641."

"He married 1637 Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Blossom, Deacon, who sailed in the "Speedwell" 1620, the companion ship to the "Mayflower," but which put back (to port) but he came in the Mayflower's second voyage 1629."

The following is taken from the New York Times 1927. A clipping in the possession of Mrs. John D. Bell:

“Princeton Gets History of Site”

“The Fitz Randolphs were one of the six families to settle in what is now Princeton Township before 1700. Nathaniel Fitz Randolph began his campaign to have Princeton chosen as the site for the new college as early as 1746. He wrote in his record book: ‘When it was first reported that a charter was granted by Hamilton our Deputy Governor, for a college to be erected some where in New Jersey and 12 Trustees appointed, I was the first man that proposed to set Subscriptions on foot for P. Town. I also gave four acres and a half of Land to set the College on.’ ”

“In 1905 a descendant of Nathaniel Fitz Randolph, Augustus Van Wickle, gave to Princeton a gate way in memory of his ancestor. This entrance, known as the ‘Fitz Randolph Gateway’ is the official entrance to the front campus and Nassau Hall, opening directly upon the original ‘four acres and a half of Land.’ It is opened only at Commencement and for the reception of distinguished visitors.”

Princeton University has on file the history of the Fitz Randolph family. In a letter from Mr. V. Lansing Collins, Secretary Princeton to Mrs. John D. Bell, he says: “The outline of your (John D. Bell’s) descent is very interesting, and I am entering it in our Fitz Randolph file.”

Woodrow Wilson was, as you well know, so closely connected with Princeton, it will be of interest to note that the first Mrs. Woodrow Wilson (Ellen L. Axson) was a great great granddaughter of Isaac Fitz Randolph, a brother of Hannah Fitz Randolph Longstreet. The Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre, Jr., Dean of the Washington Episcopal Cathedral, Washington, D. C., is a grandson of President and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

The “New England Historical and Genealogical Register” carried a voluminous genealogy of the Fitz Randolphs - July 1943 through January 1945.

Also Mrs. Louise Aymar Christian has published a book entitled - “Descendants of Edward Fitz Randolph and Elizabeth Blossom 1630 - 1950.” Published by New Jersey Historical Society, Newark, New Jersey.

Many of the genealogists, in writing about the Fitz Randolphs, refer frequently to the book by L. V. F. Randolph, entitled “Fitz Randolph Traditions - A Story of a Thousand Years,” and it is just that. It was published in 1909 under the auspices of the New Jersey Historical Society. The genealogy begins with Rolf, 1st Duke of Normandy born 860, tracing on down to Edward Fitz Randolph the Pilgrim.

We begin then with Edward, the Pilgrim, and trace down to Emily Margaret (Milligan) Bell.

EDWARD FITZ RANDOLPH

Edward Fitz Randolph (great-great-great-great-great grandfather of Emily Milligan Bell) was baptized July 7, 1607, died in 1675 or 1679, married Elizabeth Blossom May 10, 1637 (she was born 1614, died 1685, daughter of Deacon Thomas Blossom and wife Anne Elsdon), their son

Benjamin Fitz Randolph, born 1663 or 1665, died 1746, married July 7, 1689 Sarah Dennis, born July 18, 1673, died 1732 (daughter of John Dennis, who came over in the Winthrop Fleet, and Sarah Bloomfield), their son

Isaac Fitz Randolph, born 1701, married 1728 Rebecca Seabrook who died in 1744, their son

James Fitz Randolph, born 1730, died 1787, married March 20, 1760 *Deliverance Coward born December 25, 1737, died February 13, 1787 (daughter of Rev. John Coward and wife Alice Fitz Simons), their daughter

Hannah Fitz Randolph, born March 23, 1761, died 1837, married 1783 William Longstreet born 1760, died September 2, 1814, their daughter

Rebecca Fitz Randolph Longstreet, born November 9, 1786, died August 17, 1876, married May 18, 1809 Abiel Camfield born December 5, 1784, died April 11, 1828, their daughter

Elizabeth Jones Camfield, born January 10, 1814, died 1886, married September 6, 1842 Dr. Joseph Milligan born January 29, 1800, died 1884, their daughter Emily Margaret Milligan, born June 6, 1850, died September 6, 1922, married 1875 John Bell.

* A tradition in the family is as follows:

“The mother of Deliverance Coward was miraculously saved from the tomahawk of an Indian, a few days before the birth of her child. In commemoration of the fact, the daughter was named Deliverance.”

James Fitz Randolph, husband of Deliverance, dropped the Fitz from his name. In the book referred to “Fitz Randolph Traditions,” the author Lewis V. F. Randolph, says - “It is something of a pity that with some of the Fitz Randolphs the argument of convenience has prevailed, leading them to drop the beginning portion of their name. The writer himself may have been at fault all his life in compromising on the initial F, as many others have done in lieu of using the complete and significant prefix ‘Fitz,’ signifying ‘Son of,’ a Norman - French prefix.” Quoted from page 22.

From the Fitz Randolph records we find:

James Fitz Randolph and Deliverance Coward had Isaac Fitz Randolph who married Eleanor Hunter, their daughter Rebecca Longstreet Fitz Randolph married Rev. I. S. K. Axson. Issue: three children.

Samuel Edward Axson married Margaret Jane Hoyt

Randolph Axson married Ella Law

Sarah Ellen Axson married Legare Walker

LONGSTREET

Dirck Stoffels Langestract (great-great-great-great grandfather of Emily Margaret Milligan Bell) came from the Netherlands to the New Netherlands in 1657, and soon afterwards married Catherine Van Lienwen.

Dirck Stoffels Langestract had a son of the same name, who like his father, retained throughout his life, the old Dutch spelling of his name. He married Maiken or Moika Lauen Van Pelt. (In his will he calls his wife "Mercy." She signs her will Moicae.) They had a son Dirck Langestract, the third of the name in this country. He began calling himself Richard Longstreet, so we begin with Richard Longstreet born in 1712, married Abigail Wooley. They had six children. Their fourth child was -

4. William Longstreet (great grandfather of Emily Milligan Bell) born 1760 married circa 1784 Hannah Fitz Randolph born March 23, 1765, died February 12, 1837. Issue:

4-1. James Longstreet married Mary Ann Dent.

4-2. Gilbert Longstreet married 1st Betsy Leigh, (had one daughter) married 2nd Henrietta Eve. Their granddaughter Eliza Maxwell Longstreet married Nathaniel Berners Barnwell, great-great grandson of John Barnwell and wife Ann Berners. (See Barnwell line, p. 49)

4-3. Rebecca Longstreet married Abiel Camfield. (See Camfield line, p. 72)

4-4. Augustus Baldwin Longstreet, born in Augusta, Georgia, Sept. 23, 1790, died Sept. 9, 1870, married March 2, 1817 Elizabeth Parke.

4-5. William Longstreet married Mary Ann White.

4-1. James Longstreet and wife Mary Ann Dent had ten children. Of the ten, their sixth child deserves mention. He was General James Longstreet "Lee's Old Warhorse," famous throughout the South during the Confederacy. He was born in Edgefield, S. C., January 8, 1821, died January 2, 1904 in Gainesville, Georgia, married March 8, 1848 Louise Garland of Virginia. He married 2nd in 1897 Helen Dortsch. She published in 1905, "Lee and Longstreet at High Tide." The Atlanta Journal in February 9, 1930, had an editorial entitled "A Belated Memorial," in which it said, "Gainesville, Georgia housed him (General Longstreet), Gainesville buried him, and now at long last Gainesville is to immortalize him (a monument was to be unveiled) for he was a great man, a strong man, a man of whom any city might be justly proud."

Read the story of his life in any History of the Confederate War.

4-4. Augustus Baldwin Longstreet in 1822 was elected Judge of the Superior Court of Ocmulgee District, by joint ballot of the two branches of the General Assembly of the State of Georgia. He was the author of "Georgia Scenes," published in 1840, a first edition of which was very recently valued at $225.00, by a New York book seller, who said "the rarity and importance of this book in American literature can hardly be over-emphasized. It has directly influenced a host of American writers."

Judge Longstreet was President of the South Carolina College (now the University of South Carolina) from 1857 to 1861.

"The Judge," as he was called, was a very versatile gentleman, one of his unusual accomplishments being the playing of a flute. Upon one of Henry Timrod's (the S. C. Poet) visits to him, Timrod wrote, "the Judge very obligingly got up and fetched his flute, an elegant glass one, and played for us, (a group of students). It was really beautiful." The flute is now in the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.

Read "Augustus Baldwin Longstreet - A Study of the Development of Culture in the South," written by John Donald Wade, published in 1924.

From the foregoing, we find:

Dirck Stoffels Langestract married Catherine Van Lienwen, their son
Dirck Stoffels Langestract married Moika Van Pelt, their son
Richard Longstreet married Abigail Wooley, their son
William Longstreet married Hannah Fitz Randolph, their daughter
Rebecca Fitz Randolph Longstreet married Abiel Camfield, their daughter
Elizabeth Jones Camfield married Dr. Joseph Milligan, their daughter Emily Margaret Milligan married John Bell.

From the records of St. Paul's Church, Augusta, Georgia, we find:

"Underneath a square headstone in a remote corner of the Cemetery sleeps the widow of William Longstreet, a noted inventor who anticipated Robert Fulton in applying steam to navigation. She was the grandmother of the noted Confederate General Lee's Old Warhorse."

The inscription on her tomb reads:

"Sacred to the memory of Hannah Longstreet. She was born in Monmouth County, New Jersey, March 23, 1761, died in the Sand Hills February 12, 1837."

"I have waited for Thy Salvation, O Lord."
